PC Users Magazine

MAUS Environmental Planner is designed to help organisations develop their own customised Environmental Manual, which can either be used for ISO14001:2004 certification and accreditation or just to help document and improve an organisation's current environmental systems.

MAUS Business Systems has developed MAUS Environmental Planner to make this process quicker, easier and more manageable. This software program will make the process of certification more appealing and rewarding.

Easy to use, this product was compiled from the practical knowledge and experience of business consultants and managers.

It uses a simple "Step by step" approach to help you compile the manual including: -

- Sample Environmental Policy
- Sample Environmental Manual
- Sample Environmental Procedures
- Sample Environmental Forms

Improve environmental awareness and at the same time the environmental initiatives will reduce company Expenses.

Your name, business and details are automatically integrated into the manual. Compatible with vista. Updated ISO 14000 standards

In addition the manual may give you a competitive edge with your customer. Certain government and large organisations may see the inclusion of Environmental compliance as a key element of their own Environmental policy.
